Good luck! --K Iverson

HINSDALE--Thanks for the compliments, Ken. Good luck to you too. You were a GM's dream player: always on time with legibly written orders.

To matters at hand: we have a proposal to concede the game to Austria-Hungary.
To end the game thusly the vote must be unanimous, but silence will be considered acquiescence with the proposal. So please vote "Aye" or "Nay" with your fall moves.

CONFIRM VOIGTS' MOVE

ASK MADGE

by Madge Greenfart
Madgie's BOB O-SUCH-A-HUNK sez he was a big winner, when he took his visiting sister to Las Vegas recently. The Bobster is now relaxing poolside in sunny Arizona, enjoying his winnings. Madgie wishes she could be there big guy! (See pix page)

Meantime, I've seen the ~~NEW~~ VOIGTS' future home in Hinsdale. It's a delightful place with trees and big bushes and a ~~tiny~~ big yard. Madgie can't wait to be invited to Kathy's first tea! Hint Hint (See Pix Page)

GAIL GORSKI has to be a saint. No doubt about it! Hubby RON is already in his "pre-strike worry period." He's cancelled living sez Gail. Madgie's learned the Gork has put off any future vacation plans, major purchases, and has started on his diet of "dogs 'n beans," to save money. The Gork's contract expires next March. As he once told the Madge-oo, "You can't start worrying too early!" Ah, words to live by!

FIVE YEARS AGO IN THE STAR:

--Tom Eng announced in San Jose California that he would marry his love, Charlene, later in the year. Eng, it was said, had passed the decision because misery loves company, and it would be easier for two people to take turns in the gas lines that had been commonplace that summer in California. Reaction in Peking was predictable. The People's Daily labelled Eng an "imperialist capitalist lackey..."

--Chicago Kosin was telling the STAR that it was he who had planned his firing from a Berwyn printing company. Kosin said he had received several paychecks that bounced. Now, he said, he planned to devote his time to writing. His first project is a (yet-to-be-published) book on the Women's Professional Basketball League...

HINSDALE—Provided the technicalities of the closing go smoothly, Bill (W.C.) Voigt, his lovely wife Kathy, and the couple's children will move to 444 W. Vine St., Hinsdale, next Friday, July 13th.

Voigt told the STAR that he was "very happy to be moving into the stomping grounds of the (Hinsdale) Haufnauts." He hopes his (TBA) Blue Jays will bring a new, winning environment to the suburb.

The move drew mixed reaction from village fathers. Some board members are ready to proclaim Hinsdale the basketball capital of the world in view of the Hinsdale franchise plus the fact that three other TBA franchise owners will now be living in the suburb.

Other board members think it entirely too much, however, and they are gauging sentiment for a village ordinance that would ban TBA basketball, or at least some semblances of it, such as obnoxious ceramic dolls, Eskimo cheerleaders, or Fox Butterfield.

Eng told the STAR he had sold his current home in Bolingbrook at a garage sale, in fact making contact with the prospective buyer during a giant neighborhood sale. Nobody, however, was quick enough to come up with a snappy response to his statement. No word yet on if the Jays will change names.

KINKY!

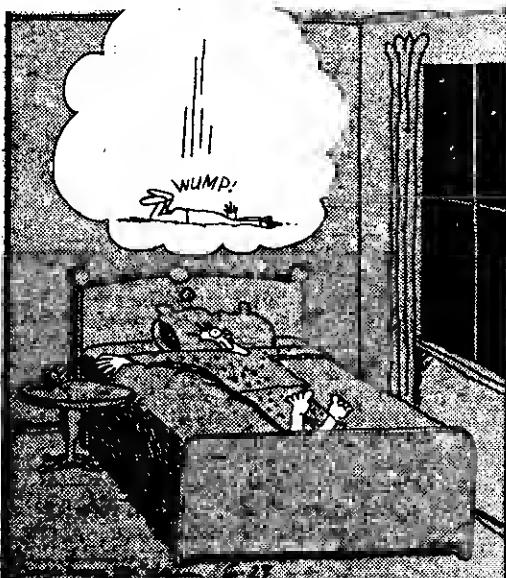

CHICAGO--STAR photogs were there when Jim "The Beezer" Benes had to give a specimen during a recent physical. Quips the Beezman, "These nurses really do a great job!"

GAIL KISSES HUSBY!

BROOKFIELD--Gail Gorski kisses Brookfield Zoo frog, then is told it is not her husband. Chuckles the horticulturist, "Well, who would've known? It's an honest mistake!"

FARBER'S WORLD:

Dreaming he's falling, Jerry forgets the well-known "always-wake-up-before-you-land" rule.

VOIGT'S INVADE HINSDALE!

BOLINGBROOK--Maw 'n Paw Voigt 'n the kids git riddy ta invade Hinsdale as they pose in front of their Bolingbrook home this weekend.

STAR notables have already seen the new Voigt palace, proclaiming it a "really pretty place in a lovely neighborhood, right by a park, with kids 'n drugs, 'n gangs. Everything you'd want in a suburban setting. A little bit of the city, right here in Hinsdale!"

OSUCH WINS BIG, BUYS VEGAS

LAS VEGAS--STAR notable Bob Osuch bought this town this past weekend, after winning "really big" at the gaming tables. Bob told the STAR, "Hey, nobody loses a job just because there's some new management around here. Frank can still sing in the lounge, after he gets done cleaning the tables of course, and Wayne? What can I say about a guy like 'Mr. Las Vegas?' He can drive my limo."

"Hi everybody, this is Cher, and I just want you all to know Bob Osuch is the best thing to happen to show business since Sonny Bono.

Hey, don't laugh, I mean it. Bob, you got me babe!"

"Hey everybody, I want you to meet one groovy cat, Bob Osuch, ladies and gentlemen. Is this guy a white Sammy Davis or what? What a multi-talented talent. He and I go back a long way. What is it Bob, 2 days now? Hardy-har-har. Just kidding Bob. No jokes at your expense, 'cause you let me have a job!"

"Hey, if Bob wants me to shave my stupid mustache, hey, I'll shave it. And 'Danke Shoen for the job, Bob."

"There he is ladies and gents, right here in our audience at the Sheraton Osuch, Bob Osuch, my good friend and a true humanitarian in the human sense. Bob's kind of a shy guy. Come on and stand up you nut. Let me tell you something 'Up Close & Personal,' if I can. Bob and I have 'known' each other in the Biblical sense for years. Let me just say, he's a sweetheart and I love 'em!"

Anyway, I'd have to say he ranks, don't sit down you nut, they want to see you, anyway I'd have to say he ranks right up there with the Sultan of Electric

Shock)

✓Don King, as a promoter. No, no. Sorry Don. Bob has to top the list. You just can't measure up with the "Big Guy" himself. Hey Don, why don't you go back to boxing. Bob Osuch everybody!"

CUDDLEY INMATE SUING PRISON FOR $30-MILLION!!!

"I've been more interested in maintaining my health instead of trying to lose weight."

His diet suggestions-fried fish and chicken.

LEXINGTON-KENTUCKY--585 lb. Oscar Nichols (he used to tip the scales at 750!) is suing the prison system here, claiming he's a victim of cruel and unusual punishment. Nichols, serving 15 big ones on a federal gun charge, sez he needs air conditioning, housekeeping help, and better bathroom facilities. We agree. He hasn't bathed since February!

Rich Mylak said it, "I'm glad I'm not that guy's underwear!"

HAZEL PARK, CALIFORNIA--76 year old Russel Berkley has filed suit against a hospital after his testicles were sucked into the drain of a whirlpool bath. But at his age, so what? (Actually, it really hurts to just think about it, doesn't it boys?)

SAN FRANCISCO--A woman whose home was burglarized found her stolen possessions returned with the following note: "Dear Occupant, Never in my many years of robbing have I come across some shit like this."

MILWAUKEE--Former President Jerry Ford doesn't consider himself a klutz. And he complained to reporters recently that they paid too much attention to the times he bumped his head or fell down while skiing. Right after, wouldn't you know it, he accidentally knocked a microphone off the podium!

SANTA ANA--The Register newspaper here recently ran the following correction: "In a recent edition we referred to the chairman of Chrysler Corporation as 'Lee Iacoocoo.' His real name is Lee Iacaca. We regret the error."

HONOLULU--Taxi driver Gil Gilbertson paid $340 for a newspaper ad celebrating his 65th birthday. It read, "By God, I made it!" He never saw the ad though, since he died of a heart attack a week before the ad ran. Don't count your chickens!

MIAMI--A Cuban refugee who spoke no English got a job as a security guard at a local grocery store. One day, he noticed a bulge under a shopper's shirt. Despite the man's protests, the guard reached inside and pulled out his colostomy bag.

SCOTT A. HOLE COUNTY CLERK DEMOCRAT

This is a real campaign sign in Valparaiso, Indiana

PEKING, CHINA--The China Law newspaper printed a photo of 3 smiling soldiers posing on a railroad track, their backs to a speeding train that killed them a split second later. The paper didn't say why the photographer, who jumped out of the way, didn't warn his friends of the danger.

PARIS--A survey of French men and women show males fantasize about women without their underwear, and women dream of lovemaking in the sand. In the sand? Ouch!

CHATTANOOGA, TENNESSEE--Police have charged a man with disorderly conduct after he sent an illiterate co-worker into a restaurant with a note. It was supposed to be a breakfast order, but it was actually a stick-up note!

SPROTZ?

DEERFIELD--In a blatant display of his sexual preference, Sissy LaBeau of the Dandylions "grabs the tush" of a baserunner during a rundown. "I couldn't help myself, it was so squeezable," minced LaBeau. Dandylion owner Alan Levin defends LaBeau, noting, "It doesn't make him less of a ball player. In fact, it makes him a better, uh, how shall I say this, ball handler," noted Levin with a Cheshire-like grin. Levin has vowed never to trade the "Siss-man."

TOM SCHAER ON SPORTS:

"Thank you very much Sherman....In the NBA, uh, before we get to that I should probably tell you about the White Sox. No, check that. Maybe I should tell you about the Cubbies, or what Billy Martin said today. You know there's always controversy when....hey, how about those college hoops? We'll get to the scoreboard in a second, but first this unrelated thought....uh, in golf Arnold Palmer won't be....hey, wait a minute! Did I tell you about.....oops, sorry. Out of time. That's it in sports. More later."

WHY IS BRAD PALMER SMILING?

This is a picture of the WBBM score-reader on vacation before he found out about his shift change. Instead of his first show at 6:45, it'll be at 5:15. Have a breakfast cigar, big guy!

PETERS TO QUIT UBA!

BULLETIN!

CHICAGO, July 5—Universal Baseball Commissioner James M Gillespie said today that he had been informed by Alan Peters that Peters intends to leave the UBA at the close of the current season. Peters is said to be facing several pressing commitments of a personal nature in 1985.

Thus, unless there is a change of heart, the Santa Fe Red Sox franchise may be available to any prospective UBA league member who may be, as Gillespie put it "lurking in the weeds...or in a sewer, or perhaps in the grounds of the Metropolitan Sanitary District."

Peters, meanwhile, is being commended for his excellent work, along with Ron Gorak, in producing the Transcontinental Basketball Association's yearbook, which will be delivered to league members early in September.

NATIONAL LEAGUE, am Saturday June 22, '57

The Brooklyn Dodgers held on to their seven game lead on the strength of the left arm of Johnny Podres. Podres threw his fourth shutout of the season, a 3-0 four hitter, against the Cardinals, and became the first National League hurler to win ten games (10-0). Elsewhere

FARBER (continued from page one) (that's bedding as in "to my sleep, per chance to dream" as opposed to betting as in making book). Farber now is scouting likely locations for the enterprise and a projected starting time is some months away. So, if you're in the market for a waterbed, you may want to see what "the Farbs" has to offer.

around the league, Walt Moryn's 11thinning sacrifice fly brought home Cal Neeman with the winning run in the Cubs' 7-6 victory over the Giants. Moryn had homered (#3) earlier in the contest, as did Neeman (also #3). The Cubs spotted the Gints a 4-0 lead in the first inning as Willie Mays smashed a 3-run blast (#13). Hank Sauer also had a homerun for New York (#17).

Milwaukee kept pace with Brooklyn by outlasting the Phillies 10-6. After a late Philadelphia rally tied the game in the top of the 8th at 6-6, the Braves put together a 4-run rally to put it away. Joe Adcock had two homeruns (#8, 9) for Milwaukee. Henry Aaron hit #15 for the Braves. Ed Bouchee (#7) and Stan Lopata (#10) crashed roundtrippers for the Quakers.

Roy McMillan, the league's leading hitter got a clutch single in the last of the 9th to drive home Frank Robinson with the winning run in the Reds' 5-4 victory over the Pirates. Don Hoak had homerun #5 for Cincinnati.
